WHY DOES MAM'S ELECTRIC IRON BLOW OUT THE FUSE?

By Grant M. Hyde
Associate Professor of Journalism
The University of Wisconsin.

"Why is it that mother's electric iron so often blows out the fuse, Daddy?"

"Because when she uses the iron, she sometimes uses too many lights at the same time and puts too much of a load on the wires. If she forgets to turn off the lights, she might set the house afire."

"How does she put a load on the wires?"

"Well, sonny, it's like this. The electric wires outside our house carry much more electricity than the wires inside the house. The volume of current we allow to get through the house wires depends on the number of lights we turn on. It is measured in amperes and watts. In perhaps one-fourth an ampere, and about 25 watts go over the wire in one hour. If you turn on more lights, you put on more than, say 20 lights, so much current would come over the wires that it might set the house afire."

"Electric flatirons and other devices use more current than lights do. Sometimes a short circuit lets a great volume rush through. To protect our house, we have fuses that cannot stand as much current as the wires. They are made of metal that melts instantly if overloaded. And so, when the current that the flatiron uses, or a short circuit or something else overloads the wires, instead of setting the house on fire, it blows out the fuse and thus stops the current by completely breaking the circuit."

"Yes, we have more than 20 lights, Dad."

"Yes, that is because we have several circuits, starting from the main wire where it enters the house. Your mother's flatiron simply overloads the kitchen and dining room circuit and blows that fuse. It doesn't affect other circuits. We have three circuits; some houses have more, some less."

WILL DISCUSS HIGH COSTS MONDAY NIGHT

Fully determined to beat the high cost of living and believing it can only be accomplished by starting a co-operative store, another mass meeting has been called for 8 o'clock Monday night at the city hall.

Janesville is to have a co-operative store and the meeting is being held for further discussing the project and formulating further plans.

Alderman Roy Horn said, Alderman William J. Hill, who is also interested in the movement, said today that there was no question but what a co-operative store would be opened here in the near future.

Plans have been made to hold the meeting at the city hall, but if the crowd is larger than can be accommodated another hall will be secured.

TRAINING SCHOOL RECEIVES STATE FREE TRAVELING LIBRARY

Fifty three books of the traveling library which is issued at Madison, arrived at the training school yesterday. This is the first set of books which has been sent out this year.

It contains novels, mostly these novels by the greatest fiction writers of the country.

This is the second year that the training school has received the traveling library. Prin. J. J. Lowth stated that one reason for instituting the library is to teach the students the value of the library and how they may obtain the books for their own schools when they are teaching.

Thursday afternoon the training school students and teachers visited the county farm. They spent the afternoon inspecting the buildings. More of the county institutions will be visited later in the year.

Dr. Carter Alexander first assistant state superintendent of education, has written Principle Lowth that he will be in the city in a short time to visit at the training school. He said that he considered the work done by the Rock County Training school of a high order.

Graduates of this year's class are sending in to the training school for books and pamphlets which they wish to use in their schools.

Instead of employing a teacher to teach domestic science as has been done in former years, the training school students this year go to the high school for domestic science.

The scarcity of boarding places has caused Principle Lowth to allow the students the privilege of using the kitchen of the training school as a place where they may cook their own meals. The students can obtain rooms but have been unable to get boarding places.

SCHOOLS ORGANIZE WAR SAVINGS CLUBS; CHILDREN SAVE

"School children and teachers are enthusiastic about reorganizing War Savings societies," said Postmaster J. J. Conner, today. He has found that this is an excellent way to save and to encourage thrift.

Since War Savings clubs have been organized in the schools, the children have learned to save their nickels and dimes and not spend them for ice cream and shows," he said.

Today the principals of the city graded schools and the teachers of the rural schools are reorganizing their school societies. Next week the city and rural mail carriers will begin carrying the stamps which will be left at the school houses for the children to purchase.

Postmaster Conner is especially pleased with the splendid work which the school children did in this work last year. He also commended the teachers who directed the work and who encouraged their pupils to purchase the stamps.

Doctor Tells How to Detect Harmful Effects of Tobacco

Try These SIMPLE TESTS

New York: Doctor Condon, formerly of Johns Hopkins hospital, says: Many men who smoke, chew or sniff tobacco are suffering from progressive organic ailments. Thousands of them would never have been afflicted had it not been for the use of tobacco, and thousands would soon get well if they would stop using it. The system is affected by the nicotine principle of tobacco is a deadly poison which attacks the nervous membranes, tissues and vital organs of the body. It has a harmful effect on the heart and depends on general debility, indigestion, constipation, extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of memory, lack of power, mental confusion, etc. Others may suffer from heart disease, bronchial trouble, hardening of the arteries, tuberculosis, blindness or even cancer or the common affliction known as tobacco heart. If you are a tobacco in any form you can easily detect the harmful effects by making the following simple tests. Read about one full page from a book. If, in the course of reading your voice becomes muffled, and the city becomes dim, and you must frequently clear your throat, the chances are that your throat is affected and that the tobacco is the beginning of more serious trouble. Next, in the morning before using your usual smoke, walk up three flights of stairs at a regular pace, then stop. If you find that you are out of breath, your heart beat is forced trembling or irregular, you may be a victim of functional or organic heart trouble. If you feel that you must sneeze, cheer or snuff to quiet your nerves, you are a slave to the tobacco habit, and are positively poisoning yourself with the deadly drug, nicotine. In either case you have just one thing to do—keep on with the self-poisoning process irrespective of the dangers and suffer the consequences, or give up the habit and escape the danger. You can overcome the craving and stop the habit in a very short time by using the following inexpensive formula. Go to any drug store and ask for Nicotol tablets. Take one tablet after each meal, and in a comparatively short time you will have no desire for tobacco, the craving will have left you. With the nicotine poison out of your system, your general health will quickly improve.

Note.—When asked about Nicotol tablets, one of our leading druggists said: "It is truly a wonderful remedy for the tobacco habit; away ahead of anything we have ever sold before. We are authorized by the manufacturers to refer you to every disgruntled customer, and we would not permit the use of our name unless the remedy possessed unusual merit." Nicotol tablets are sold in this city under an iron-clad money-back guarantee by all up-to-date druggists including The Peoples Drug Co., and Reliable Drug Co.

HOW TO Earn Money Outside of School

PROFITS FROM A CELLAR

By J. H. Millar, Director Boys' and Girls' Newspaper Service.

As Mrs. O'Flaherty put it, "The lazy young Bill Jones hasn't got for nothing no how. Why don't he make some money and help his Ma not to have to take in all them washings?"

Now, Bill couldn't seem to make money, but he could make anything else. His workshop was a wonder. One day Bill happened to hear a man in a big automobile say to a friend, "A factory is nothing but a big workshop anyway. In any workshop you have to specialize to make money. In our factory in Grand Rapids we make chairs and nothing else—except money—and the chief reason we make money is that we make nothing else but chairs. I tell you, you have to specialize."

This gave Bill something to think about. He decided to specialize and make a real factory out of his shop. That night he talked it over with his mother. Bill wanted to start a bow-gun factory, but his mother said, "No, you must make something that people really need. Now, I've always needed a good strong sleeveboard. The ones you buy are so small and flimsy."

Together they drew up the plans. Bill would make a combination sleeveboard and small ironing board. It would be a labor saver. On one side a lady could iron a shirtwaist or a few handkerchiefs without the trouble of getting out her big board; on the other side she could iron sleeves.

Even Mrs. O'Flaherty wanted one when she saw it. Soon Bill was a business man, a manufacturer. His output was ten boards a week, one each school day and five on Saturdays. His account book showed a weekly profit of $1.00.

Bill had the right idea. Whether or not it is sleeveboards, the way to make money out of a home workshop is to specialize in making some one or two things that folks really need.

JANESVILLE WOMAN GETS W. C. T. U. OFFICE

The following officers were elected at the W. C. T. U. convention which was in session at Evansville Wednesday and Thursday.

President, Mrs. Cora Dickinson of this city, vice-president at large; Mrs. Sarah Greenwood, Edgerton, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Carrie Dresser, Clinton, recording secretary; and Mrs. Sarah Rice, Milton, treasurer.

In addition to a program which carried numbers by many of the W. C. T. U. officers Wednesday afternoon, a report of the county officers was read. Thursday afternoon there was a president's conference conducted by Mrs. Cora Dickinson of this city.

Ellen Cook, Madison, gave an address at the conference. She is a former resident of this city and is well known here.

FORGOT WHERE HE PARKED HIS AUTO

"Help! my automobile has been stolen," Charles Wells cried last night as he sought in vain for his machine on West Milwaukee street.

The cry was heard by Officer Patrick Slein, who hurried to the scene.

"I want you to help me find my automobile. Someone has taken it while I was in the city on business," Wells said.

That prompt action would be taken, Chief Thomas Morrissey arrived in company with Motorcycle Officer King.

King was designated by Chief Morrissey to comb the city for the machine. In the meantime telephone calls were sent to all surrounding cities to watch for the car.

About 11 o'clock Officer King found the machine parked on North Jackson street. Mr. Wells was told his car had been found.

"I remember now I left it there, as there was no room on Milwaukee street," he said.

HENRY T. LITZKOW RETURNS TO CITY

Henry T. Litzkow who left Janesville about 17 years ago has returned to Janesville and will enter on his job of the Golden Eagle in the clothing department.

"Mr. Litzkow who has had several years' experience in the clothing business has been added to the Golden Eagle force as it was thought advisable to secure a man with a thorough knowledge of clothing," Mr. Litzkow said in making the announcement.

Mr. Litzkow for the past seven years has been buyer and manager of the Stern department store at Joliet. Before that he acted in the same capacity for the Rosenberg store, at Evanston.

"I am mighty pleased to get back in Janesville and I will be glad to renew old acquaintances," Mr. Litzkow said. "The clothing department will be enlarged and I will be glad to serve the customers of our patrons who will get the same service as before," Mr. Litzkow said.

MADE IN JANESVILLE

Greek Cheese has been made right here in Janesville for some time and sent to larger cities all over the country. Starting today you can get it from any local grocer. If he hasn't it he can get it for you.

1,000 SERVICE MEN GET "Y" PRIVILEGES

Work of the local Y. M. C. A. among returning soldiers and sailors since the first of the year up to September 1 is summarized in a report given out today by Norman P. St. John, war service secretary. The report shows that more than 1,000 men received free privileges and accommodations. Mr. St. John leaves for Chicago, Monday, where he expects to take a combination course at the Y. M. C. A. college and Chicago university this winter. With the discharging of soldiers nearly completed it is felt that the "Y" has accomplished its task so far as war service work is concerned. Five hundred soldiers from Camp Grant were given free sleeping accommodations in the "Y" dug-out; 700 men enjoyed the shower baths; and 200 free 2-months membership were issued, the report shows. Two social functions for service men were held with a total attendance of 350. Forty-three were directed to positions, while 131 were referred to churches. In addition to this more than 100 received war risk insurance, back pay, travel allowance, rooms and homes.

KIOSK DROPS BUT FROST IS MISSING

With a bright moon shining and people wearing warm wraps, the first frost of the season was due. Several local prognosticators are sure that a frost was going to be visited by a frost last night and they pointed to the clear sky and the falling thermometer as indications. Farmers who have not cut their tobacco are anxious and city folks who were planning on several more weeks of warm weather were dismayed. It was the coolest night in weeks from the torrid weather of last week the people were disappointed. On arising this morning the prognosticators were dismayed when they found they had guessed wrong on a frost. The thermometer dropped to 40 last night but there was no frost. The local weather prophets now claim there will be no frost until after the new moon which is due September 23.

LEMON EXTRACT DRINKERS HELD

James Collins and Mark Wylie, knights of the road, who make no claims on any city as their home, were taken into custody by the police about 9 o'clock this morning, charged with attempting to sell stolen lemon extract.

The two wanderers, pictures of hard luck, walked into the west side fire station this morning and tried to interest the firemen in the stolen valves. Although the valves were worth at least $12 a piece they offered to sell them for any amount.

When they left the fire station, after failing to dispose of their goods, the police were called. Collins was the first taken into custody. He had the only one valve with him. He told the police he did not know where his pal got it. A few minutes later, Wylie, sporting a long gray overcoat, was marched into the station and when questioned he said he did not know anything about the valves. When he was searched a half empty bottle of lemon extract was found. He said he drank it occasionally as it was cheaper than whiskey and contained 88 percent alcohol.

After questioning the men for several minutes, Chief Thomas Morrissey learned that the valves were taken from a place in Beloit. The men are being held pending word from the Beloit authorities.

WHO'S WHO in the Daily News

SENATOR GEORGE W. NORRIS
Geo. W. Norris, senator from Nebraska, found his father's hard farm when he was still a small boy. His father died, his brother was killed in the Civil war and his mother was left in straitened circumstances. Neighboring farmers took George to work for them by the day and by the month, and he went to the district school when there was no work to be had. He was such an excellent student at the district school that in his early youth he obtained an appointment as a teacher in a small school. He continued teaching until he had enough money to go to a university and take up the study of law. Between studying law and farming he had a pretty busy time. He was good training, however, he says, because he finds the senate a pretty busy place.

Here are the interesting dates in Senator Norris's career: 1861, born near Sandusky, Ohio; 1883, admitted to the bar; 1885, moved to Nebraska; 1885-1902, judge of the Fourth Nebraska district; 1903-1913, member of the lower house of congress; 1913 until the present time, U. S. Senator from Nebraska. He led the fight in the house of representatives some years ago which overthrew "Cannons."

CLINTON
[By Gazette Correspondent.]
Clinton, Sept. 10.—The installation service for Rev. A. J. McKay, Monday evening was much enjoyed by those present. The program was carried out as published with the exception of Rev. J. A. McReese, who was absent on account of illness. Rev. A. C. Zeno, D. D., Chicago, gave the charge to the pastor. The sermon by Rev. G. E. Hunt, D. D., Madison, was especially interesting. The anthem, "The choir and the solo by Mrs. Alice C. Inman and Miss Margaret McKay" added to the services. Several were present from Beloit and Shropshire after the service a short reception was held for the pastor and his family.

Rutherford Ireland, Moberg, N. Dak., arrived Monday evening and is spending a few days calling on old friends, while on his way to Oberlin college to resume his studies. He reports all the rest of the family well. His father has a woman assistant to help in his pastoral work.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Foley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reader and daughter, Edith, attended the state fair at Milwaukee, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Herron left Wednesday for Delavan lake where they will spend the next two weeks. Miss Jennie Dean is attending school at Milwaukee this week with the teachers' camp.

The Twentieth Century club spent a pleasant evening at the home of Mrs. A. A. Cleveland, Tuesday. It was the first meeting of the year. About 40 were present. The program was composed of musical selections given by Clyde Cleveland, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Alice C. Inman; Miss Louise McKay a violin solo accompanied by sister Margaret; and a song by sister McKay, also interspersed by readings given by Mrs. Eda Scott, Mrs. Cheever, and Marjorie Bartlett. After the program, ice cream and water were served.

The missionary meeting will be held at Mrs. J. P. Kemmerer's, Friday afternoon. It is the annual thank offering meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Shirk and Mrs. Floyd Barrus attended the homecoming at Beloit, Wednesday.

BROOKLYN

[By Gazette Correspondent.]
Brooklyn, Sept. 11.—Mrs. V. Z. DeLeonard and daughter, Esther, left Saturday for their new home at Rhineland.

Leo Jacobie was a visitor at the state fair in Milwaukee Tuesday.

Dr. C. E. Treat and Dr. Windmiller, Woodstock, have gone on a fishing trip in the northern part of the state.

Home-made Flowmeter to Be Used on Altitude and Speed Flights

Dayton, Ohio.—A home-made flowmeter. That is what Major R. W. Schroeder of the McCook Flying field, near here, made. The major is making efforts to break altitude and speed records.

The need arose for an instrument for indicating the flow of gasoline. No such instrument having made its appearance on the market, Major Schroeder decided to make one. He found a section of an old gas pipe, a broken boiler gauge glass and a bean. Putting them together he found he had a flowmeter superior by far to anything hitherto developed either in this country or in Europe.

Most Decorated Woman Marches With Pershing

[By International News.]
New York.—Among the many welfare workers asked to march up 5th avenue with General Pershing and the heroic First division was Miss Cora E. Van Norden, a Salvation Army worker, who is called "the most decorated woman in the world."

Miss Van Norden was attached to the 15th Infantry regulars and is credited with having established the first A. E. F. canteen, which was at Anzio, Italy.

Among her many decorations are the War Cross, the British Salonica decoration, Serbian and Greek decorations and a Victory ribbon. She was on the ocean 13 days before she reached France, arriving in that country on July 13.

After spending 13 months overseas she married Beatrice May Taylor of Oxford, England.

Post Card Travels 13 Years--from Vt. to Mass.

[By International News.]
Boston.—After being en route from Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., to Boston for 13 years, a postal card has been received by B. H. Macy, 330 Atlantic avenue.

The card was mailed at the fort July 31, 1906, by Macy's sister, Hazel, and it was addressed to her father, who died a few years ago.

Not Afraid of 13--His Lucky Number

[By International News.]
Ada, Ohio.—Not only President Wilson, but Eliza Adams of this city, just returned from overseas, has given the so-called "unlucky" 13 a run to prove there is nothing to the superstition connected with this number.

Ten Words Pay This Man's Salary

Ten little words act as ten willing workers for Sam Brown, the five-wire electrician.

Whenever orders begin to dwindle and demand for his services begins to slacken a little, he phones a ten-word classified advertisement to the Gazette.

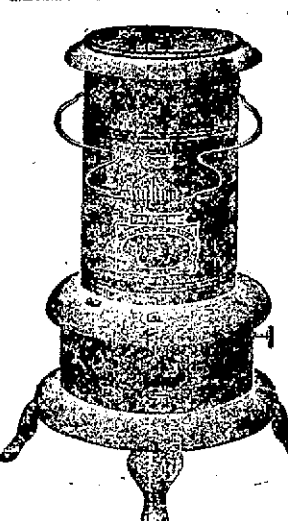

"Run this ad thirty days," he says. "And the very next day he's busy again."

Why not try this plan yourself? If you are able to perform any valuable service—if you can teach, music, sewing, foreign languages—if you are a good carpenter—if you possess a business of your own of any kind—try a Want Ad in The Gazette under "Business Announcements."

You can make a few little words pay you a big salary.

ber. Eliza was married on Feb. 18, with 13 guests at the wedding. His marriage certificate was No. 13. He was on the ocean 13 days before he reached France, arriving in that country on July 13.

After spending 13 months overseas he married Beatrice May Taylor of Oxford, England.

London.—The eagerness with which Germany is seeking to re-establish trade with Great Britain is shown by a letter just received in North Wales from a Cologne hosiery firm. The writer apologizes for troubling a stranger, says he has obtained the address of the North Wales firm with which British merchants had done business ten years ago, and asks for addresses of all British hosiery firms with which he could open business. An international money order was enclosed.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) What do you think of a boy and girl who go away for the summer and while away lead an unadulterated and unadulterated life? When the boy returned he tried to make something of himself, but the girl didn't.

(2) Should I be a friend to both? I don't care about being the girl's friend, but I like the boy for a friend. He has been with me once since he has come back, and while with me acted real nice, but since then he has been with another girl and there has been a lot of talk about it. I could go with this boy if I wanted to. I like him. The boy I am going with now is jealous of the other boy.

N. I. G.
You have a wrong and unchristian attitude. A girl who is looking for a friend in another girl is not a friend. It is not a friend to harm the girl who is in need. I do not believe that you should try to remain a friend to both. If you would always feel superior in your own mind and would be ready to find something else to criticize and talk about, you are not a friend. You do not know so much about the summer they spent together, believe in reality you know nothing positively. Be friendly to the boy, but do not let him come to you without your running after him.

Try to be broader minded and less ready to put reputations. If you would do the same thing or worse if placed in the same position of the one you criticize.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have met a young man of whom I am very fond. He means a great deal to me as he is my senior and has such good sense. He is very fond of me and has asked me not to accept any

A QUEER WAY TO SHOW LOVE
If a person worries about you, it would seem safe to assume that person really cared for you. I wonder sometimes, however, if worry isn't just a prevented form of selfishness. A little better than the ordinary form in that it is unconscious, a little worse in that it is much harder to rebuke.

"Now John, it is quite cool this morning. You must wear your heavy overcoat. I shall worry all day if you don't," says Mrs. Jones to her husband.

"She Feels the Cold, He Doesn't." Now John, big and tall bloated, doesn't feel the cold at all. He is as his devoted wife does. She herself wouldn't dare move out doors that day without all her furs and winter garments. But her husband, through this same performance every winter since he has married.

To tell his wife that he didn't feel the cold and that it wasn't necessary for him to wear his winter overcoat, yet, would seem simple. But—"I shall worry all day if you don't," says Mrs. Jones to her husband. John, being an average sort of a husband, disliking trouble of any sort, wears his winter overcoat. Because he needs it. But because Mrs. Jones would worry if he didn't. As a result John is uncomfortably warm all day—but Mrs. Jones is quite satisfied. She doesn't worry. We are thinking Not of His Comfort But Ours.

We do not always remember that what is one man's meat is another man's poison. Lacking a common

HEALTH TALKS BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.
LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

A COMMON POSTURAL FAULT
Mr. X is a merchant aged 44. To the casual observer he looks well. He declares that he enjoys perfect health. His personal history is negative so far as any important illness is concerned. His habits are very good, except that he keeps his nose too close to the grindstone, out of greed and not need. For four successive years Mr. X was examined by various life insurance examiners and each time rejected by the insurance company. This indefatigable Mr. X was ready and willing to go through a fifth examination. I had beyond a shadow of a doubt on every part of the physical examination, but a good trace of albumin was found present in the urine. The doctor told Mr. X that he was swabbed. Therefore he advised the company to postpone decision on the risk pending further observation. The company obtained specimens, each time on several occasions, each showing the trace of albumin. Finally the doctor prevailed upon Mr. X to take two or three days' rest in bed. Then the albumin disappeared. The company then accepted Mr. X, issued the policy, and he had no occasion to grieve.

Persons with this postural orthostatic albuminuria have an exaggeration of the hollow of the back. They are likely to be subject to fainting spells, are often rather pale, and anemic, many of them are neurasthenic in type, that is to say, their magnificence is not so much in their looks as in their symptoms worth worrying about. If the presence of albumin is discovered and made known to the patient, therefore, the fact burdens his mind unless the doctor suspects and determines by prescribing rest in the horizontal position, that the albuminuria is of no importance.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Sickener Bites.
What can be put on mosquito net to relieve the itching and prevent swelling? (Mrs. P. E. M.)

Answer—Dab peroxide directly on the spot.

Inc.
Please tell me whether eyebrow and eyelash are injurious. I used ointment for freckles a few years ago, and my face swelled so terribly I had to have the doctor, but my freckles only grew worse. (Mrs. A. R.)

Answer—Yes, I think as a rule such things are likely to prove irritating. It is absurd for a woman to imagine that she can get a cathartic pill every night for her constipation, with which I have been troubled for many years. (C. Y.)

Answer—Bad breath is frequently due to diseased tonsils or to neglected teeth. Sometimes to some lesion in the nasal cavity which causes retrograde regurgitation of material from the stomach due to reverse peristalsis. Occasionally to certain drugs. Your doctor habit may be responsible for many cathartics do initiate reverse peristalsis. Charcoal lozenges afford temporary relief.

2 Miles of Oat at $8.
A man 88 years of age is in good health, but distresses his family by insisting that he must walk two miles or more every day. Please say what you think of it. (Anxious.)

Answer—I'd like to engage the man to pace me occasionally. Anyhow, I congratulate him on his wisdom.

Baking Powders All Right.
What is the best baking powder to use? I know of various firms. (A.)

Answer—I know of nothing objectionable in any baking powder on the market. There may be preferences from the viewpoint of cookery, but from the viewpoint of hygiene all the baking powders are all right.

given her), you're a wonder of a girl.
It was all his snid. But the way he said it carried conviction of his earnestness toward the hard new program.

There is no miracle in producing results by hard work. Yet if the 60,000,000 families in these United States, despite eternal toil, are forever toiling the bread-line, and forever will, so long as the system lasts, but there is a miracle about hard work. And it lies in the ability of the worker to pull himself up by his own bootstraps to raise himself by a spirit of energy from hard work to harder work, and to strain at it by dogged will power till the crest of the hill is gained and the blessed downslope stretches ahead.

The miracle is in being able to do the heart-breaking stunt. There has got to be the will power, or even the first step cannot be made. There has got to be the physical stamina, or the hanging-on cannot be achieved. There has got to be the opportunity, the fortuitous circumstance, whether of the helpful wife, the helpful employer, the helpful education, or what not.

Mark Twain in "What Is Man?" said all there is to say about the folly of blaming those who fail and praising those who achieve. "The human machine," according to his make, "plus the efficiency it gains from outside influence, never from anything it originates within."

This Morris Kaufman couldn't get on. And Bernie Carroll could. Generations of tyranny behind him and an unescapable weight of adversity upon him made of Kaufman a slave. A heritage of comparative freedom, a husky body, a helpmate who matched and backed him quality for quality—and Bernie had three levers that slowly and laboriously pried him from the mass.

Spring milled into summer and Bernie and Annie into their bootstraps task. Heroically they stuck to it through scourgings of tenement food, through weeds and disease, through baby sicknesses and family cares. Everything now rocked of war. Stories of the daily carnage were blazoned before an American public too staggered to take in the true import. The draft law made its mighty clamor and took its mighty toll, the cost of food and clothing and rent and every necessary thing vaulted to the sky.

Annie never looked at Bernie as he reared in from work at his pig-garage, splashed his dirty face and hands in cold water and tore off to the classes—four a week—at the Y. M. C. A. without feeling him as much a hero as any man who was ready to give his all in soldiering. Bernie never watched Annie in her ceaseless grind and unquenchable cheerfulness without blessing her for an angel of help and mercy.

RECIPES FOR A DAY.
Savory Eggs—Six eggs, four tablespoons chopped parsley, six rounds of toast, salt, pepper. Grease six moules. Mix meat and parsley together and sprinkle some in each moule. Break an egg into each moule; sprinkle with salt and pepper and dot with butter. Steam five minutes; serve on toast.

Cucumber Salad—Two cucumbers, one small onion, one small head celery, salt dressing. Cut cucumbers lengthwise in half and scrape out most with teaspoon. Chop onion and celery with this and add dressing. Fill shells with mixture and garnish with strips of pimiento.

Jellyed Apples—One quart, sliced apples, one cup sugar, one cup hot water, one tablespoon gelatin. Pare, core, quarter and slice apples enough to fill a quart dish. Place with sugar in layers in a baking dish, using the sugar, add one-half cup hot water, cover and bake about three hours in a slow oven.

Softer one tablespoon of gelatin in one-half cup of cold water and dissolve in one-quarter cup of hot water. Mix carefully through the hot apples, turn into an earthenware mold. When cold serve without cream.

It is a favorite way of cooking apples. The gingerbread used for breakfast is not rich, but very plain, and is used for its laxative properties.

Curried Eggs—Make a white sauce well seasoned with curry powder. When cold pour over hard boiled eggs. To make them look more attractive eggs can be stood on plate by cutting off one end.

Thousand Isle Dressing—Mix one chopped tomato, one-half green pepper, dash tobacco sauce and one tablespoon chopped olives with one and one-half cups mayonnaise dressing. Serve on crisp leaf lettuce. One does not tire so quickly of lettuce if a variety of dressings is used.

GOOD RECIPES.
Split Pea Soup—Four cups split peas (cooked), one beaten egg, two cups bread crumbs, one teaspoon minced onion, one tablespoon parsley, celery or other flavoring if desired; salt and pepper to taste. Mix all the ingredients together. If too soft to hold its shape, add dry water. Form into loaf, bake until brown.

Apple Sauce—Wash six summer apples and cut into eighths with skin on; remove core and discard seeds; cover with hot water and cook slowly until tender; remove from fire and add about one-half cup vinegar, or to taste. Serve cold.

Escaloped Tomatoes—Place alternate layers of bread crumbs and ripe tomatoes and seasoning of salt and pepper in baking dish with crumbs on top. If desired, add an onion finely chopped to the tomatoes; brown in oven.

STRANGE FAMILY RECORD.
London.—A man astonished some friends by saying that one of his sisters had buried a hundred years ago. His own age is 45. He explained it thusly: The sister buried in 1845 was the first born of a family of 22 children and she died in early infancy. The man was the youngest member of the family and was born in 1854, 25 years after his sister.

FRENCH HONOR WOMAN.
Paris.—Two Englishwomen, Miss M. Dobson and Miss E. D. Proddy, who for over three years have been serving under the French War Cross, have received the Croix de Guerre for valor under bombardment near the front, and the Médaille de la Reconnaissance Française for devotion to duty.

SATIN FROCK IS ALWAYS GRACEFUL

Although tricotette is without a doubt the most popular fabric for all frocks, satin is still holding its own. In order to compete with tricotette it is being made up in various distinctive models and indeed many of the satin frocks are of such charming lines that they would look commonplace beside those of the other fabric.

The woman who wants something graceful, who is inclined to obesity and would look slender in a satin. Black, navy and brown are the favorite colors. Here is a smart afternoon frock of soft heavy satin made with regard for effective simplicity.

A quaint piping of plaid, short sleeves and gracefully draped skirt. The dots on the skirt are of white lawn secured by little French embroidery design. There is nothing particularly outstanding about the frock, yet it has the distinction and charm which is produced by the expert design.

FAVORITES PICKLE
New York.—Favorites are proving more flexible than ever on the race track this season according to the followers of the turf. There have been more first choices defeated than ever before in the history of the game. As a consequence the bookmakers are blossoming out in new touring cars and other luxuries while the form players are soaking watches and the family plate.

What's in Two Names.

From the worried expression on both their faces, it would have been evident to an observer that neither man, as they shook hands, could remember the other's name.

"Ah, this is a pleasant surprise, Mr.—er—him," said the tall man with spats of Wilhelm red. "I haven't seen you for years and years, Mr.—huhph."

The small man with the cambric necktie put his hat in front of his nose to hide his smile.

"He doesn't remember my name!" he chuckled to himself. "That's a little one—easy one like that."

Aloud, he said, "Who'd have thought of meeting you again, Mr.—oh—huh! I haven't seen you since—when was it?"—the banquet of white-side last drivers, wasn't it, Mr.—hem?"

"No, I think we met after that at the small financiers' re-union, Mr.—er—huh!" said the tall man with the spats of Wilhelm red. And he thought to himself with an invisible smile, "He can't remember my name! Huh! That's a good one—can't remember the name of Smith!"

And as they separated and went their separate ways, the small man with the cambric necktie giggled. "That's a hot one, all right! Tee hee! Couldn't remember the name of Smith!"

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

BY ROY K. MOULTON

AN UNUSUAL CHAP.

The cost of living is a joke. The cost of living is a joke. He never lets out a frenzied roar. The same as other common folk. He lets things happen as they will. Takes the good right with the bad. No hobby can give him a thrill. He's not a crank on any fad. He never speaks an unkind word.

About a living soul, For gossip to him is absurd. His tongue is under strict control. "Remarkable, of course you say. But this man you will never know. Because, you see, it is this way: They buried him ten years ago."

According to a Washington dispatch, congress is getting ready to get rough with the food hoarders. But don't let us not suggest that congress will remember it is a perfect lady and will do nothing rash?

There is probably nobody in this world who hasn't at some period in his career desired to own a bungalow. A bungalow is a long, low, rakish-looking house with a porch in front and an ash can behind. You get into it by going on your hands and knees and you crawl out backward, for there generally isn't room inside to turn around without upsetting two or three dollars' worth of furniture. The roof is so close to the floor that when you get into a bungalow you feel like a porcine portion of a ham sandwich.

One way to build a bungalow is to follow the advice of the magazines. According to them you can build a bungalow for any price from $4.50 up to $3,000,000, and you can go a little higher than the last named figure if you want to have plumbing in it.

The magazine recipe for a $4.50 bungalow is as follows:

Brick..... $1.01
Lumber..... .29
Paint..... .10
Carpenter work..... .71
Plastering..... .34
Tin work..... .39
Heating..... .23
Extras..... .23

Total..... $4.50

Of course it can be done a little cheaper by leaving out the roof and the side walls, but it seems as though anybody ought to be able to afford a bungalow at the figure named. We have a friend who is building one of the $4.50 variety after a magazine recipe. I'm to date it has cost him only $4,796.52, and it is nearly half done.

"The stuff they're selling now is poison," says an expert. "But what do they put into this poison to give it such a kick?"

"Madam," said Hugh, "that child looks older than three years." "Yes, indeed he does, conductor," replied the lady, "that child has had a lot of trouble." The kid rode free.

THE ROMANCE OF TRUE STORIES OF BUSINESS SUCCESSFUL WOMEN

EDITH MORIARTY

Ida Harris lived with her mother and brother at the edge of the city. She attended the public schools but not very regularly, as her mother was an invalid and she often had to stay home to care for her and do the housework. For this reason it took her two extra years to get through the grammar grades and when she was sixteen she left school. She wanted to go on to high school, but she decided that it would not be quite fair because her brother needed the money and could not afford to let her go to high school, especially when she had to stay home almost every other day.

She went to a multiphase school instead. The only explanation she can give for choosing a multiphase school was the fact that the girl who lived next door to her went to one. She finished the course in about the usual time and started to work in a multiphase department of a large steel company. She was a very good operator and liked the work, but it was rather monotonous and often there were days at a time when she would have little to do.

By applying herself and working hard she acquired great speed and in a year she was the best multiphase operator in the department. The only thing that held her back was the fact that she so often had to stay home because she could get no one to stay with her mother. Realizing that she was a very good operator and was head of the multiphase department at the end of two years and was earning $25 a week.

Learned to Set Type. The steel plant where she worked had a printing department also. Ida used to spend all of her spare time learning how to set type and feed a press. Before she was made head of the multiphase department she would often help set up different forms and if the job were not an important one she would pull the type and set it up. She was very expert at this in a short time and before she was given her new position she had run the whole department alone once when the head printer was ill and his assistant was away.

After she became head of the multiphase department, however, she had very little time for anything else.

A Coated Tongue? What it Means

A bad breath, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, languor and debility, are usually signs that the liver is out of order. Prof. H. O. Minter says: "The liver is an organ second in importance only to the heart."

It can manufacture poisons within our own bodies which are as deadly as a snake's venom.

The liver acts as a guard over our well-being, sifting out the acids and ashes from the general circulation.

A blockage in the intestines piles a heavy burden upon the liver. If the circulation of the blood becomes poisoned and the system becomes clogged with toxic waste, and we suffer from headache, yellow-coated tongue, bad taste in mouth, nausea, or even acid dyspepsia, languor, dizziness, yellow skin, eyes, etc., it is a sign one should take action at once. A pleasant laxative, such as one made of Magnesia, leaves of aloe and Jalap, put into ready-to-use form by Doctor Pierce, nearly fifty years ago, and sold for 25 cents by all druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

She always did the soliciting and handled all the big jobs herself.

worked by the hour for him and usually made more a week than she had at the steel plant. Starts Her On Shop. Ida was thrifty, and as her brother did a great deal towards the support of the house she had been able to save some of the money she had earned in the seven years she had been in business. She was never quite satisfied with being an assistant printer or an assistant anything for that matter, and when her employer decided to sell out his small business and move to a farm in the country Ida at once tried to find a way to buy it from him. She herself only had $350, but that was not enough. Finally she raised enough money to pay her employer a good down payment and the rest she was to pay in installments. She worked in a large plant she often knew just the kinds of forms that needed or just the kind which were best fitted for different purposes. It was knowing just these little things as those which made her more successful than many of her competitors. Eventually she had to move to new quarters and hire a regular corps of workers who were more shifts. She took her brother in with her and made him office manager. Today Ida is 33 years old. She is owner and manager of the Harris printing company, which is the largest firm of its kind in a large manufacturing city, and she is the only woman in the city running such a business. She can name among her patrons almost any firm of any size in the city and many outside concerns. She built her business in less than 10 years and she is now able to provide every comfort and luxury for her invalid mother.

Woman Thinks She Is Privileged to Talk

"If anyone ever had a miserable stomach I surely had. It was growing worse, too, all the time. Had severe pains and attacks every ten days or two weeks and had to call a doctor, who could only relieve me for a short while. Two years ago last February I took a treatment of May's Wonderful Remedy and I have not had a spell of pain or misery since. My friends just wonder that I am looking so well. I feel I am privileged to talk about it."

It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. J. P. Baker, druggist.

THE WISHING PLANE

When Signor Angelo finished telling Jack and Jane about the boy hero of Lucerne, Captain Bravo told the tourists about Jack's part in finding the robbers in King Charles' castle, and Jack felt real proud when Sir Spring said: "Well, then we have a boy hero right in our own auto."

A Captain Bravo suggested that they all have lunch in Lucerne, so Signor Angelo stopped the auto in front of one of the restaurants and everyone stepped out of the car—everyone except Booth. He had lain curled up in the bottom of the car during the long ride and was so comfy that he didn't move when the auto stopped.

"Well just let him stay there and have a nap while we are eating," said Ladydear. "He's had about all a little doggie could eat for a while, anyhow."

Booth seemed willing to stay where he was, too, for he just blinked his shoe-button eyes and stretched a bit.

Jack and Jane and their friends entered the restaurant and for several minutes Booth lay undisturbed on the soft carpet of the car. He sat up for a few moments as he heard some one come up to the front of the car. But whoever it was opened the hood and started to tinker with the machinery and Booth decided, without jumping up on the seat to look, that it must be Signor Angelo fixing something about the engine.

But a minute later the someone jumped into the front seat and tried to start the machine. Booth could see who it was then, and it wasn't anybody he had seen before. The little dog decided that the man had no business there, and, jumping into the back seat, barked at the stranger as hard as he could. The auto thief, for that's what the man was, knew that the little fuzzy dog couldn't hurt him, but would attract attention, so he turned and struck Booth as hard as he could with his open hand. The blow hurt and Booth howled, half in pain and half in the hope that Captain Bravo or Jack or somebody else in the restaurant would come to help him.

Jack thought he heard Booth the first time the little dog barked, and asked Captain Bravo to listen. Both of them, and Signor Angelo, too, heard the little fellow when he barked after the thief struck him. Captain Bravo and the Italian millionaire dashed out of the restaurant door just as the thief got the auto going. Captain Bravo jumped right from the sidewalk to the running board of the car and as he landed on the car struck at the thief with all his might—just like Jack had seen in the movie. The auto thief, who howled worse than little Booth had done and jumped out on the other side of the machine into the road. Signor Angelo had climbed into the front seat of the auto by this time. Captain Bravo saw that the car was safe, so he ran after the thief and caught him.

The thief was turned over to the police and Jack and Jane climbed into the car and started home. (To be continued.)

GARGLED AND COUGHED

Bayonne, N. J.—A handsome, well-built young man applied to United States army recruiting officers here for enlistment and impressed them most favorably until they asked him his name. In reply he gargled and coughed, or at least seemed to. They were about to turn him down when with a flash of inspiration he cried: "I can spell it. This is what he wrote: 'Zygmmunire Gutkeschinte'."

LAWRENCE JAMES DUE FOR VICTORY SUNDAY

With a flock of veterans in the line-up it looks as though the slipping Lawrence James due for a victory Sunday when they took up with the McCoy All Stars at Athletic park as the wind-up of a double header, the first game to be played for the amateur championship of Milwaukee. Four vets have been signed up this week—Larry Oellig, Ervin Barklear, Otto Krause, and Al Miller—giving the James an array of stars to compare well with any team in the Lake Shore league.

Oellig, who has been secured cover left field played third base Manitowish in the game here a few weeks ago. He was released by Herzog when Art Blues was signed to cover the far corner. Krause, an outfielder and Barklear, a catcher, are two youngsters from the Northwestern league while Al Miller, who will plug the hole at short, is one of the best around Fond du Lac. Only two Jansville men will play with the team Sunday—Biglow in right field, and Brausen at third.

The line-up as announced today: Brausen 3b, Oellig 1b, Biglow rf, Aaron 2b, Keith cf, Miller ss, Barklear c, Gorman lb, Brodie p, Krause, utility.

THREE PITCHERS TO BE ON HAND SUNDAY

Hopes of a victory for the new Jansville baseball club over the Durand (Ill.) Nationals at the fair grounds Sunday are pinned to the lining of three pitchers—Lankquist, Brown, and Truitt. On one or possibly more of these men will hang the duty of holding down the slugging Sucker state performers who have made such a name for themselves in northern Illinois. "There will be a large crowd on hand Sunday is evident from the interest being taken in the newly formed club and also from the fact that there have been but a couple of baseball games in the city since the last time the James performed against Manitowish.

To catch Brown's offerings, Tommie Crouke will be on the line with first, Miller at the keystone, and Bond on third. Viner, Kakuskie and Conroy will handle the outfield. Manager Truitt is busy looking for a shortstop. He hoped to sign one today so that the complete and definite line-up may be announced tomorrow.

YANKEES LEAD IN HOME RUN COLUMN

New York, Sept. 12.—Babe Ruth of the Boston Red Sox may have the home run record for individuals for the season now drawing to a close, but the New York Yankees seem to have started for a record in circuit clouts among the teams. To date the Yanks have amassed 41 of the four base blows, and there are no other teams with a total even threateningly near that amount.

In 1910 the Red Sox did some unusual work in the way of making home runs. That season they got 44 homers. If the Yanks break the record it will have stood for 10 years. The most interesting feature of the Yankees' performance in this respect is that several of the Yankees have contributed liberally, although not a single one of them is anywhere near the mark established by Babe Ruth. Red Ruth been with the Yankees, they would have better than an even chance of upsetting the record of the Phillies in 1914, when they pounded out 65 circuit drives, which is recorded as the team record of baseball for all times under modern conditions.

Frank Baker was the chief offender in home runs for the Yanks and at this time he is credited with 10. Such wallows Peckinpaugh and Lewis each have seven homers, while Rodie has six, Pipp six, Vick two, Fawcett one, Hannan one and Pratt one. The 1918 season was the poorest for home runs by clubs. The Athletics were the leaders of the campaign with 25, while New York was second with 20 and Boston third with 16.

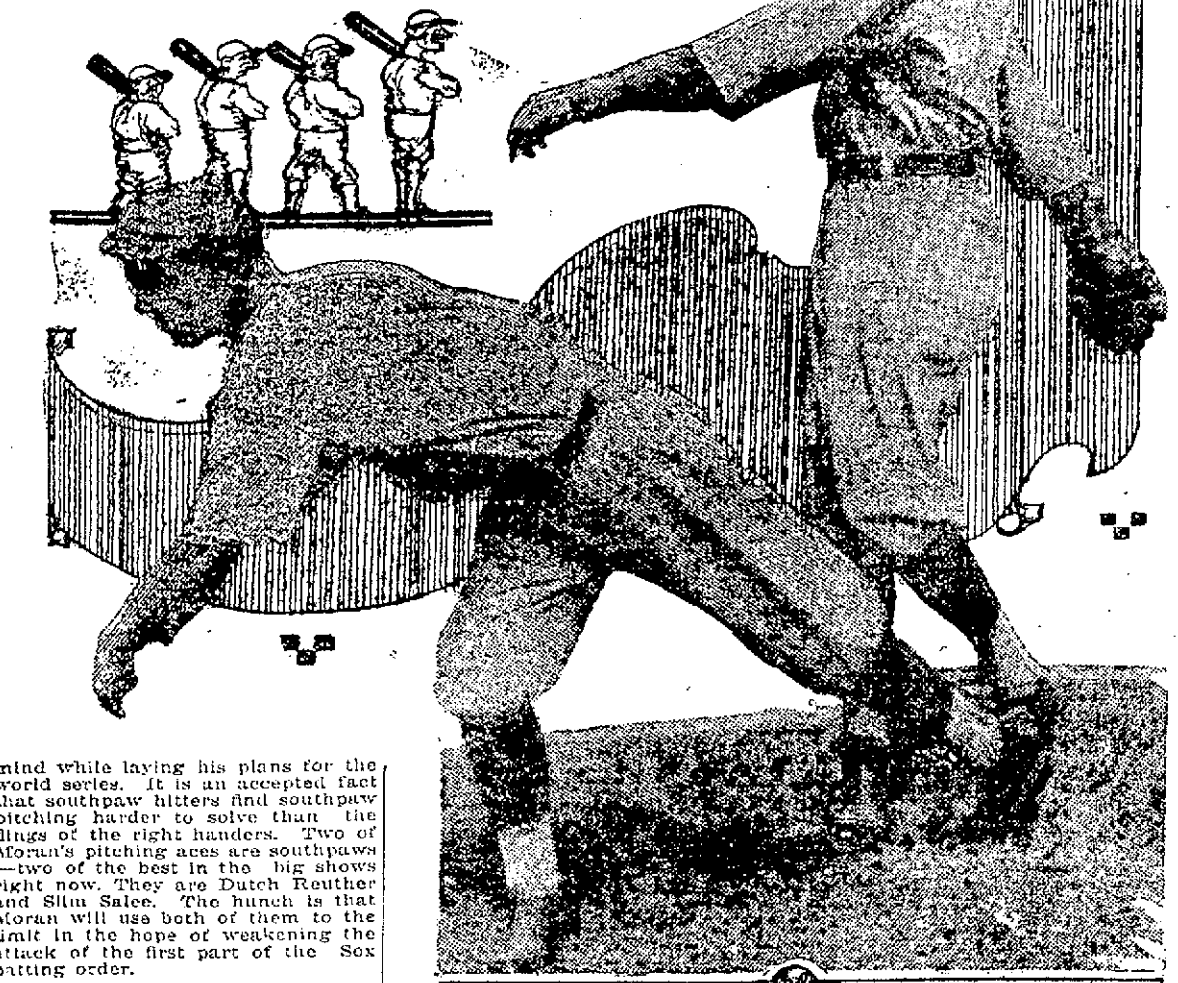

While Frank Baker, the Trappe mauler, has always been a hard hitter, he has never figured with the performances of Ruth for the reason that Baker's circuit drives gained him fame because they were well timed. Ruth's circuit clouts have been great in number and distance, but many of them have been made with the bases empty or when the Red Sox had no chance to win. Baker's ability to hit homers, however, cannot be doubted in spite of the fact that he has but 10 to his credit this season.

Will Moran Use Reuther and Sallee To "Southpaw" White Sox to Death?

By N. E. BROWN

Get the White Sox lineup in mind. Leftfield leads off. Collins bats second. Then comes Weaver. Jackson bats in the cleanup berth. And everyone of these first four men are left handed batters. What about it?

Oh, nothing much, except that the tip comes from Cincinnati that Pat Moran may be keeping that fact in "Dutch" Reuther, at left, and Slim Sallee, Red southpaws, in action. That no team can be a winner with—have two. Moran undoubtedly will out a good southpaw. The Reds take advantage of that fact.

Baseball Proving Good As Cure For Insanity
Chicago.—The State Hospital for the Insane at Elgin, Ill., has inaugurated the game of baseball among the patients there as an antidote for sick minds. Five clubs have been organized among the patients and one among hospital attendants.

One of the stars of the "league" is Arnold Huiser, once star infielder for the St. Louis Cardinals, whose mind was said to have been impaired by a "bean" ball.

"Baseball is improving the minds of the boys," declares Miss Kathryn Jennings, physical director. "They are thinking more clearly and they are much happier."

Occasionally the players try to steal a base with the bags full and once in a while a batter dashes for third instead of first when he slams out a hit, but for the most part, the game is played in great shape.

Other stars include Calvin Demarest, former billiardist of fame; John Reardon and "Snowball" Beard.

FOOLING BABE RUTH

New York—"Dutch" Leonard, who was formerly a team mate of "Babe" Ruth, recently boasted to a friend that he had the home run hitter's weaknesses down pat and could fool him any time.

"All you've got to do is to pitch low and inside or high and outside," "Dutch" declared. "I ought to know, for I set him down without a hit last time he faced me."

But the next time "Babe" gathered a pair of doubles and a homer and "Dutch" boasts no more.

THAT LEONARD-BRITTON BOUT

New York.—"Why not let Benny Leonard and Jack Britton battle for the honor of going to England?" says Dan Morgan, Britton's manager.

Both Leonard and Britton have received attractive offers for bouts in England, but inasmuch as they would meet the same men, Morgan wants them to fight for the honor and let the victor go abroad.

"If you ask me would I let Britton meet Leonard, my answer is 'in a minute.' Now ask Gibson the same question and see what he says. He doesn't want Leonard to meet Britton, not after seeing Jack trim O'Dowd."

Pleasant Fields Of Holy Writ

Save for my daily range
Among the pleasant fields of holy writ.
I might despair. —Tennyson.
Third Quarter Lesson, XI. Matthew
XXV 31-46. September 14, 1919.
Golden Text: For we must all be made manifest before the judgment seat of Christ. 2 Corinthians V: 10.

THE FUTURE LIFE

The circumstances were sufficient to greatly agitate. The Apostles had left all to follow Jesus. Denial, betrayal, ignominious death were impending. The much-vaunted "Kingdom" seemed on the verge of a voluntary surrender. But sympathy, courage beamed out of Jesus upon his troubled followers. His self-oblivion is divine. Under shadow of his cross his whole thought is of others; is of the men who had been given him. He wants the bud of truth to blow into the flower of trust.
He will be their safeguard. So he cries: "Trust God! Trust me!" He lifts their thought above the material city with its house of cards so near its collapse to the invisible city whose foundations are secure and in whose countless dwelling places there is room for all. There is no illusion here. He appeals to the candor which has maintained between them.
If the case had been otherwise, he would have informed them. His very going is one of the events which will prepare the way for their reunion.
He has a right to assume that after three years of teaching they know his destination, and Jesus is not taken to arrive at it. Thomas, for himself and the rest, discounts Jesus' denial and confession. In spite of their practical ignorance, we can afford to condone Thomas' interruption, for like Martha's at her brother's tomb, it brings out an additional and forceful declaration.
Jesus is the Way. The stream not only indicates the direction of the sea, but the way which leads to it.
His stream, it will convey him thither.
So Jesus not only indicates the way to the Father, but carries us to him.
He is the Way, the Truth, the Life.
He is the Life—source of immortal and blissful existence. The life begins immediately as the traveler commits himself to the way. The traveler is the same element as the ocean for which he has set out, the difference being in degree. And Jesus is the only way to no other name or foundation. He says emphatically:
"I and I only am the way." And Jesus identifies himself with the Father, affirming that seeing him is equivalent to seeing the Father.
Again ignorance and misapprehension obstruct themselves. Philip craves a theophany. He wants to get to God "at a bound." How he misses the mark! God speaks and shows himself in his Son more nobly than when seen by Moses in Sinai, or Isaiah in the temple. A revelation in moral attributes—such a revelation as Jesus made in his person, is always greater and more desirable than a spectacular manifestation, however glorious and overpowering.
The excellence and perfection of Jesus' revelation of the Father consists in this: He spoke and acted as God would speak and act in human nature. So Jesus spoke "not from himself," not from thoughts originating in his human mind, but he spoke as God manifest in the flesh. A blissful subjective reality from faith in Jesus as one with the Father. Such a faith will keep one from being
"troubled" and will enable him to do
"greater works."

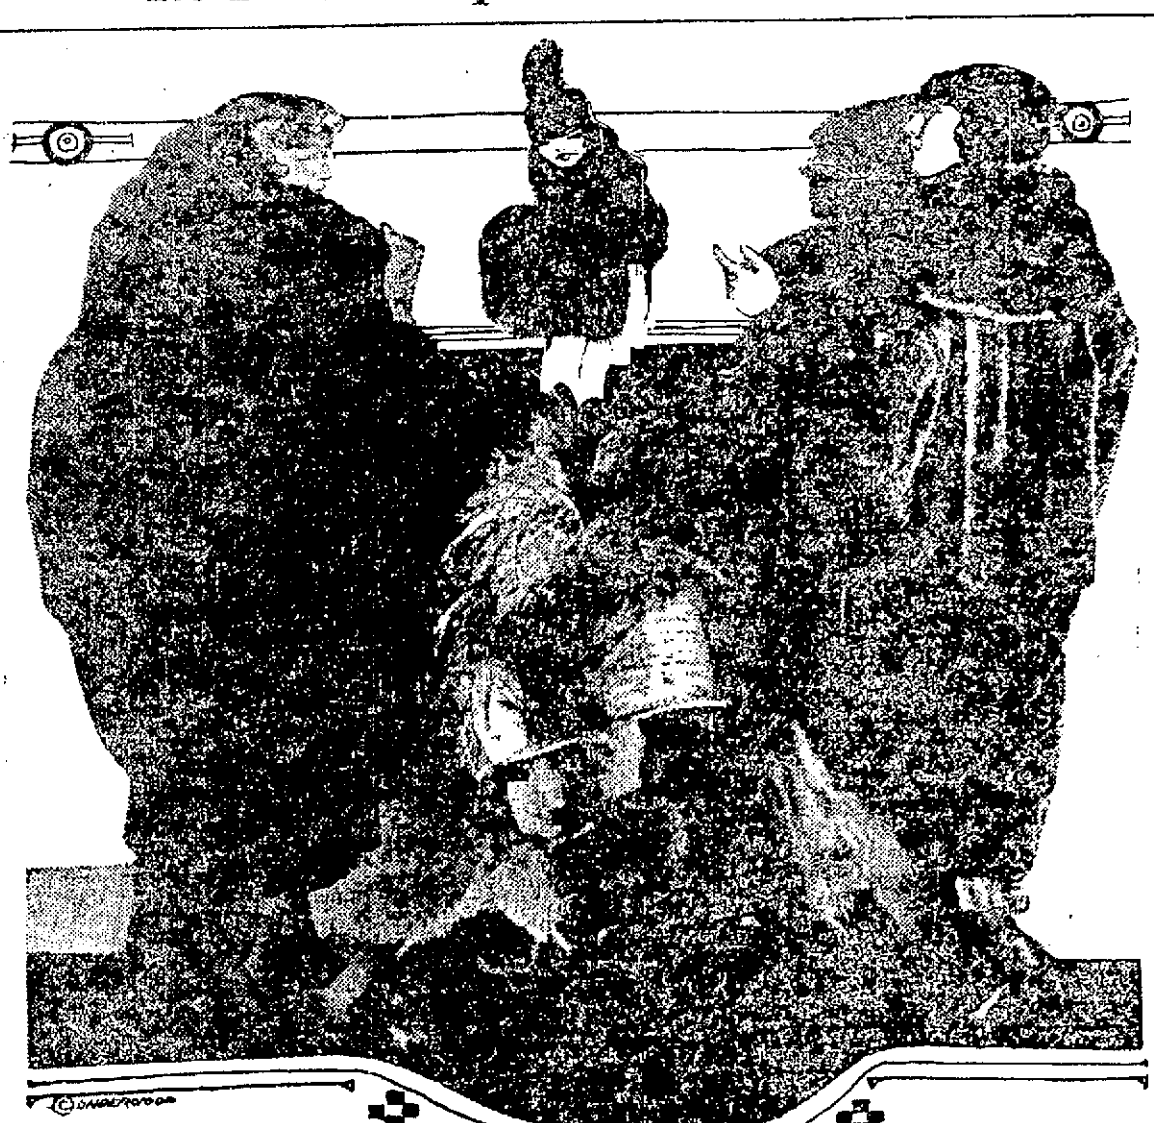

The Teacher's Lantern.
Fifty years ago a young woman came to a Boston publisher with the manuscript of a book. Mild interest was shown, in fact it was declined.
The matter was afterward reconsidered,
but even then the firm had no confidence that only a small edition was published and no electrotype plates were made. To the surprise of all the edition was exhausted and once, and now editions, besides translations into foreign languages, have constantly been demanded. The book was "Gates Ajar." The author Elizabeth Stuart Phelps. Aside from the merits of the book the phenomenal demand for it and others of its kind illustrates the strength and consistency of popular interest in the subject.

There was a time when the frescoes of the Sistine chapel were done, but the scaffolding was still there, posts, planks, ropes, mortar, slop and dirt. But at length these were removed. Now look up!
It is as if heaven itself were opened.
Death removes the scaffolding. A world is our school-house—not our home. When school is out we go home. Does the eagle hunt for the shell in which he lays his eggs? Why cling to earth?
Mount up with wings as eagles!
Alice Freeman Palmer exclaimed.
God give me courage to trust I shall burst my earthly cocoon.
Columbus, dying, exclaimed: "I shall sail forth on my last voyage where I shall not meet with disappointment."
Napoleon said to his guard as they walked in the Louvre,
"Fine picture that, Denon." "Yes, immortal!" was the reply. "How long will the picture last?" was the inquiry. "Five hundred years," was the reply. "And that you call immortal!"
cried the emperor.
Satan was surrounded by a series of walls one within the other and each overtopping the one beneath.
The space of each wall that showed was treated to a cardinal color, the last being silver and gold. When the sun shone upon it the city blazed with prismatic splendor. The Re-velator's vision of the Celestial City was

Cape and Dolman Effects to Lead In Fur Wrap Fashions This Winter

Hudson seal trimmed with squirrel hair right is skunk artistically while the rather elaborate one at matched.

When the matter of fashions in fur wraps is considered, it looks now, if we are to judge from these early models, as though the cape and dolman effects are to lead.
There is without doubt a luxury and sumptuousness about a dolman of fur which the tighter do not have. One is permitted a great lat-tude of choice as to the style of a garment, for the short and the long are equally popular. This is true of the capes and dolmans as well as of the coats.
Huge deep collars are a distinguishing feature of this year's make in all fur garments. The collars sometimes reach almost to the hips, presenting in some instances the appearance of an extra cape added to the body of the garment. This is especially true when there is a combination of two kinds of skins, as the wrap on the left which is a combination of kolinsky and broadtail.
The short wrap in the center is

QUEEN MARY AS NURSE
SCOTCH'S CRYING BABY
London.—Queen Mary on paying a visit to the Empire Society's training centre for nurses at Earl's Court found a tiny baby in an unfortunate temper.
"What is the matter, baby?" said
Her Majesty as she crossed the ward full of babies to where the infant was crying lustily.
The baby's answer was another yell.
The Queen removed her glove and patted the infant's cheek, at the same time saying some more soothing words. The effect was speedy;
the tears subsided and in a few minutes the child was smiling at Her Majesty.

GRAIN

CHICAGO REVIEW
Chicago, Sept. 12.—Grain prices took an upward swing today, influenced largely by an advance in the hog market. Besides prominent traders expressed the opinion that selling of late had been overdone and had more than discounted all bullish factors. Complaints of our shortage, tended also to stimulate buyers. Opening prices which ranged from the same as yesterday's, finished 1 1/2¢ higher with September 13¢ 1/2 and December 13 1/4¢ 1/2. The market continued to ascend. Provisions were strengthened by the advance of hogs and grain. Most of the trading was in hard.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—In the later dealings, support became exhausted and which carried September down more than 9 cents, December and May, in the most of the trading, took a sharp fall to the lowest level yet this season. The close was with September 1.13 and December 1.23 1/2 and 1.23 1/2. No. 2 white 1.18 1/2 and 1.18 1/2. No. 3 white 1.15 1/2 and 1.15 1/2. No. 4 white 1.12 1/2 and 1.12 1/2. CLASSIFIED AD-VERTISING FORMS CLOSE ONE DAY IN ADVANCE OF
PUBLICATION

Several contributing reasons have made it necessary to place
classifieds on a day-in-advance basis, which means that all classified advertising should be in the Gazette Office one day in advance of publication.

We are sure everyone will appreciate the situation and co-operate to the best of their ability.

Announcement Extraordinary.*THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS*has secured the exclusive Chicago rights of first newspaper publication of*General Ludendorff's Confession*OF*How Germany Lost The War

This sensational revelation of the German effort to dominate the world, as told by the one man best qualified by reason of his intimate knowledge of the situation from the inside to tell the story, is an historical document of world-wide interest and consequence. It is the first time in the history of journalism that a great and epoch-making historical work has been first published in the daily press, and The Chicago Daily News has secured it for its readers.

It will be published simultaneously throughout the country, appearing in the New York World, the Philadelphia Public Ledger, the Boston Post, the Baltimore Evening News, the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times, the Cincinnati Enquirer, the Louisville Courier-Journal, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, the Minneapolis Tribune, the Omaha World-Herald, the San Francisco Examiner, and other leading newspapers. It will give the world the first comprehensive understanding of Germany's plans and expectations in her audacious ambition to dominate the world.

The German side of the war has been largely shrouded in mystery, and up to the present time no one who knows has spoken. Now Ludendorff—the man who conceived, planned and carried out the most colossal military campaigns, and who directed the most stupendous military machine in the world's history—tells the whole story.

Shortly after the signing of the Armistice, General Ludendorff went to Sweden, taking with him a tremendous mass of records and a large staff of assistants. From these records and his own knowledge and experience he has produced this amazing document.

We know so much about our own defeats, and Germany was so silent about hers, that it seemed at times as if the balance of victory was all on her side. But Ludendorff discloses the real condition of Germany just before the war, and gives credit and places blame where he believes it belongs. He also tells when and where the German plans miscarried, and the military crisis through which the Central Powers passed, all unknown to the Allied world.

Ludendorff's story will be complete—the history of every great battle and campaign. It will not deal with disjointed events, but will lay bare the whole German side of the war. It will not be a justification, but a history for all time.

As a revelation of the world's all too narrow escape from an engulfing peril, nothing could more definitely, and convincingly, confirm to the conscience and patriotism of the American people their own determining part in the struggle for world freedom.

Ludendorff's book is a great historical document, and an unconscious inspiration to American patriotism.

Publication begins next Monday, and will continue in daily installments.

Place your order with your newsdealer today, so that he may have time to increase his usual supply of the paper. If you find it more convenient to receive the paper by mail, send a dollar bill, covering payment for a two-months' subscription, addressing The Chicago Daily News, 15 North Wells Street, Chicago.

Do you know The Chicago Daily News? The London Chronicle says: "The Chicago Daily News is by far the best evening newspaper in the world." It averages between 32 and 34 pages in size, and has the largest circulation in Chicago of any newspaper—it frequently sells over 400,000 papers a day.

Tell your neighbor about the Ludendorff articles.
